

Celebrate with Us the 50th Anniversary of the
New York Labor History Association
A 50 Year Review of U.S. Labor History

Wednesday, May 27, 2026

6:00 pm Light Refreshments • 6:30-8:00 pm Program

IN-PERSON AND ONLINE

Conference Center, ILR School, Cornell University, 570 Lexington Avenue, 12th Floor between 50th and 51st Streets, NYC

A panel discussion on U.S. labor history of the past 50 years and a look at the future, featuring—

MELVYN DUBOFSKY

Leading labor historian
Distinguished Professor Emeritus, Binghamton University

STEVEN GREENHOUSE

Award-winning labor reporter for The New York Times for 31 years author of several books on American labor

RUTH MILKMAN

Distinguished Professor of Sociology, CUNY Graduate Center
Director of Research at CUNY School of Labor and Urban Studies

Preceded by a panel of veteran members of the New York Labor History Association, who will review the history and achievements of the association.

This is a hybrid event, please register at 50ANNIV@newyorklaborhistory.org

Provide your full name and indicate if you will attend in-person or via Zoom

In-person attendees must bring a valid government-issued I.D.

ADMISSION: Free

Sponsored by the New York Labor History Association [newyorklaborhistory.org]

Co-sponsored by the Cornell ILR Worker Institute and the Lois Gray Labor Innovation Initiative [ilr.cornell.edu]